

Woodward & Lothrop

New York—WASHINGTON—Paris.

June Special Sale of Muslin Undergarments.

A SPECIAL display and sale of Women's Undergarments, embracing the practical sorts for general summer vacation use and many dainty, fluffy, pretty garments adaptable for wear with thin summer gowns at the seashore and other summer resorts.

Special attention is called to the splendid assortment at 50c per garment. Values, 75c and $1.00.

There are Gowns, Long and Short Skirts, Petticoats, Drawers, Chemises, and Combination Suits, of soft nainsooks and light-weight cambrics and muslins, and they are uniformly well made, correctly sized, and most carefully finished. The materials are thoroughly reliable, and the trimmings, tastefully applied, consist of dainty laces, embroidery, tucks, beading, ribbon, &c.

Among others, we mention the following excellent values:

A lot of Women's Gowns, of muslin, cambric, nainsook, and cross-barred muslin; some finished with wide ruffles, trimmed with lace insertion and lace edging; others with embroidery, medallions, lace edging, embroidery edging, beading, and ribbon.

50c each. Values, 75c and $1.00.

A lot of Women's Corset Covers, of cambric, nainsook, and cross-barred muslin, with full, round neck and full front, variously trimmed with lace, embroidery, medallions, lace edging, embroidery edging, beading, and ribbon.

50c each. Values, 75c and $1.00.

A lot of Women's Nainsook Chemises, some with yokes of cluny lace, finished with cluny lace edging; others with embroidery, beading, and ribbon; skirts finished with tucked lawn ruffles.

50c each. Values, 75c and $1.00.

Third floor—Eleventh st.

An Interesting Sale of Handsome Wash Dress Goods.

THE daintiest and prettiest frocks imaginable may be made from these fine fabrics, which we secured at a liberal reduction from former prices. The quality and beauty of the materials cannot be described; all who view them will acknowledge their exceptional worthiness.

A most unusual opportunity is here offered our patrons, brought about by our taking all of the remaining stock of a prominent importer. The range of colors adds great importance to this occasion—a large assortment of those bright, iridescent shades fashion favors so much.

We believe every taste can be successfully met, but early selection is advised.

TUSSAH JACQUARD AT 29c THE YARD—A very handsome line of Silk and Cotton Jacquard, in the most used shades of the season. This is a very beautiful material, and is especially appropriate for seashore, lawn, and garden fetes and party wear. Owing to the limited quantity, we urge the necessity of early selection, if first choice is desired.

Special price, 29c the yard. Regular price, 40c.

PRINTED CHIFFON AT 38c THE YARD—This is an exceptionally stylish and dainty material, shown in the season's newest floral effects on white grounds, also with rich satin polka dots and fancy figures. Very attractive designs, in a number of colors whose prestige is evident to all.

Special price, 38c the yard. A regular 45c quality.

Displayed on specially arranged tables.

Second floor—G st.

WOODWARD & LOTHROP.

McKINLEY PUPILS COMPLETE YEAR

Thirty-four Receive Their Coveted Diplomas.

"Responsibility" was the motto at the graduation last night of those who had finished the Armstrong Manual Training School two-year course.

This motto was wrought in the hall decorations for the occasion, and was the theme of the address to the classes by John A. Chamberlain, supervisor of manual training in the Washington public schools. He said that this sense of responsibility acts as a unit in a race, and would serve as an inspiration through life to graduation in the larger sense of progressive development.

The presentation of certificates was made by Roscoe Conkling Bruce, assistant superintendent of schools. There were several musical selections, and a concluding benediction was recited by members of a Y. P. S. C. E.

Exhibits of the school work were presented, and demonstrations made as follows:

"How steel is made," Nathaniel Carroll; "The mechanics and care of a typewriter," David A. Lane; "How linens are made," Mildred Taylor; "How to make cover, and trim a hat," Althea Berry; "Machine Knitting, and Knitting," Mary Martin; "How to make and turn a skirt," Grace Hardy; "How to make a vest," Mamie Scott; "Dressmaking," Margaret Quisenberry.

The graduates and class officers were: Two-year business course—Annie Rosella Geller, Carrie Dent Harris, David Alphonso Lane, Stella Beatrice Love, Pearl Mary Newman, Frederick James Brown, George Francis Robinson, Walter Thomas Scarey, Edna Elmer Thomas, Philip Walker Thomas, Ruth Letitia Webster, Blanche Hawkins, Estelita Viola Holmes, Anna Teresa Washington, and Mary Elizabeth Peyton.

Two-year manual training course—Mildred Virginia Taylor, Nathaniel Monroe Carroll, Arthur William Hurley, Elizabeth Margaret Burrell, Inez Victoria Johnson, Beatrice Viola Prather, and Leon Jasper Leonard.

Dressmaking and millinery—Althea Henrietta Berry, Beatrice Lucetta Fields, Rosetta Rosamond Johnson, Maryrie Pauline Kiser, Mary Martin, Addie Theresa Marshall, Mamie Marie Scott, Margaret Virginia Quisenberry, Viola Marion Waters, Beatrice Beatrice Womler, and Geneva Angeline Hardy.

Officers of two-year class—Nathaniel Carroll, president; Althea Berry, vice president; Edna Thomas, secretary; Leon Leonard, treasurer, and George Robinson, executive officer.

Kaiser to Leave Potsdam. Berlin, June 20.—It is semi-officially announced that the Kaiser will leave Potsdam for Alton on Wednesday. There he will embark on the royal yacht Hohenzollern for Emden, at the mouth of the Ems.

While you think of it, telephone your Want Ad. to The Washington Herald, and bill will be sent you at 1 cent a word.

IN THE SOCIAL WORLD

White House Social Gayeties End for Season.

MRS. TAFT LEAVES CITY TO-DAY

Goes to New Haven to Attend Yale Commencement Exercises—Vice President's Wife Improving, but Not Yet Able to Leave Sick Room. Other Personal Mentions.

Master Charles Taft left the White House last evening for New Haven, where he will join his sister for the commencement festivities at Yale. Mrs. Taft will go to New Haven to-day for commencement, which will take place tomorrow, and then the White House will see the more social gayeties for some months.

Mrs. Sherman, wife of the Vice President, who has been quite ill for ten days at her home in this city, is improving, but is not yet able to leave her room. It will probably be a fortnight before Mrs. Sherman will be able to leave the city. Mrs. De Long, her sister, will remain with her until she is able to travel.

Rear Admiral Richardson Clover has arrived at the Clovers' beautiful country place in Napa County, Cal. Mrs. Clover and her two daughters have been detained in town somewhat longer than they had expected, owing to Mr. Clover's indisposition. They expect to leave here to-morrow for California.

Mrs. Russell B. Harrison and her daughter, Miss Martha Harrison, returned yesterday to their Washington home, after having spent June week at West Point and made a visit in New York. Miss Maitland Marshall, daughter of Gen. William L. Marshall, former chief of engineers, U. S. A., who was also at West Point for June week, is now visiting friends on Staten Island.

Mrs. Elkins and Miss Katherine Elkins, wife and daughter of Senator Elkins, of West Virginia, are at their country place, "Hallehurst," at Elkins, W. Va., for a final visit before sailing for their annual trip abroad.

Mrs. James Robert McKee and her daughter, Miss McKee, and son, Benjamin Harrison McKee, father of Mrs. McKee, Capt. de la Mar and daughter at Glen Cove, L. I., this week. Capt. de la Mar was well known in Washington society, as a bachelor, during the administration of President Harrison, father of Mrs. McKee. Capt. de la Mar has a beautiful place at Glen Cove, where his young daughter, Miss Alice de la Mar, acts as his hostess. She was graduated from one of New York's fashionable schools last month, and is considered a great beauty. Mr. and Mrs. McKee and their family will spend their summer at Easthampton, L. I., but later in the summer they will take the popular "ideal tour" in their touring car through the Berkshires.

Mrs. J. M. Dickinson, wife of the Secretary of War, and Mrs. H. H. Linton, wife of Mr. Justice Linton, were the guests in whose honor Mrs. John J. Verne entered at luncheon last week at her home, in West Church street, Nashville, Tenn.

Mr. and Mrs. Larz Anderson will leave Boston to-day for the Philippines, and will reach San Francisco in time to join the Secretary of War and Gen. and Mrs. Edwards for the long voyage June 28.

Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Van Atta announce the marriage of their daughter, Jennie Irene Graham, to Frederick F. Walther. The ceremony was performed Thursday, June 16. The couple will be at home after July 1 at 917 I street northwest.

Col. Clarence F. Townley returned to Fort Monroe last Sunday after spending a very pleasant visit with friends in this city.

Miss Oona Bailey, who has been visiting Miss Martha Tomlin at Fort Monroe, has returned to Washington.

Mrs. James F. Howell and her son, James, who were visiting in Fort Monroe, have returned to their home in Fort Monroe.

The wedding of Miss Page Waller Morris, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Speed Morris, and Frederick Campbell Stewart Hunter, of King George County, Va., took place last evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the bride's parents, at 1333 California street, the Rev. C. Ernest Smith, pastor of St. Thomas' Church, performing the ceremony in the presence of the members of the families and a few out-of-town guests. The bride's only attendant was her sister, Miss Patricia Morris. Thomas Lomax Hunter, of King George County, acted as best man for his brother. The ceremony was followed by an informal reception, after which the young couple left for a honeymoon trip in the North. They will be at home after July 5 at Mr. Hunter's home, in Virginia. Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. T. Hunter, of New York; parents of the bridegroom; Mrs. Robert Tombs, of Oklahoma; and Mrs. R. S. Bowie, of Virginia, sisters of the bridegroom; Rear Admiral Couden, of New York; Miss Jean White, of Charlottesville, Va.; and President Kean, of Baltimore.

The marriage is announced of Miss Catherine M. Reith and Arthur E. Callahan Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock at the parsonage of the Sacred Heart Church, Rev. J. F. Eckenrode officiating. The bride was gown in a becoming frock of white Japanese silk, trimmed with baby Irish and Valenciennes lace, and carried a shower bouquet of bride roses and ferns. Misses Florence B. and Gertrude B. Callahan, sisters of the bridegroom, acted as bridesmaids, and

Dr. James Dudley Morgan has donated the use of his summer home at Chevy Chase to-night for a musical at 8 o'clock for the benefit of the new Catholic church at Chevy Chase.

Miss Virginia Wallis sailed June 18 for Europe to spend the summer abroad.

Mrs. J. J. Bullock, Mrs. William Upshur, and Mrs. F. W. Mahood and son, of this city, will be guests at the Elkton Hotel, Elkton, Va., for a time.

F. E. Wilson, of New York City, spent the week here at the family home, 1839 Phelps place. He returned to New York Sunday night.

Miss Caroline Shepard has returned to Washington from a short visit in Norwich, Conn., and will have with her as her guests this week Miss Julia Barclay and Miss Grace Dunn.

After a while. The mother, tired, with aching head, from sweeping floors and baking bread, called to her daughter: "Susan, dear, I wish you'd help a little here." Fair Susan, in the parlor dim, was playing o'er a tender hymn; methinks it was "The Maiden's Prayer"—a melody beyond compare. She cried, while playing on, in style: "I'll help you in a little while." Her lover blew in unawares—a fine young man with princely airs. His heart was free from sordid strains; his head was full of high-class brains; most any girl would give her eyes to gather in so big a prize. He heard the mother's weary cry; he heard the damsel's flip reply. His bosom swelled with noble ire! His tawny eyes flashed streaks of fire! He cried: "Miss Susan Sarah Brown, it's up to me to turn you down! While groundhogs live and comets shine, you'll be no blushing bride of mine! The healthy girl who doesn't jump, and on her system get a hump, when mother calls, I do not want; so get thee hence! Aroint! Avoant! I'll hunt me up a damsel fair who passes up 'The Maiden's Prayer' when she has got a chance to chase the troubles from her mother's face!"

WALT MASON. (Copyright, 1910, by George Matthew Adams.)

Try serving your breakfast in this manner on a hot day. Have the steak about an inch thick. Broil it carefully without scorching the outside, having it show a pinkish color all through without being too juicy. Chill it and, with a sharp knife cut it in dice or strips, trimming off all the fat and gristle. Add a cupful of spiced cauliflower broken apart; season to taste with salt and pepper and mix with a good mayonnaise mixed with a little dry whipped cream and enough dry grated horseradish to flavor nicely. Serve with crees or lettuce.

Lansburgh & Bro.

420-426 7th Street.
417-425 8th Street.

Odd Lots of Colored Suitings and Dress Linens,

Worth up to 39c, at 15c yd.

The following are odd-and-end lots of dress linens, U. S. Standard Khaki, Arno Cloth, Imperial Linen Suiting, Plain and Fancy Striped Pongee Linens, and Natural Tan Linens. These are the fashion's latest materials for separate skirts, two-piece suits, auto coats, riding habits, children's suits, &c. Regular values up to 39c yd. This lot at, yard, 15c.

wore dainty gowns of pink-flowered organdy and lace and carried armfuls of La France roses. J. Lyons, a brother-in-law of the bride, was Mr. Callahan's best man. Immediately after the ceremony the young couple left for a honeymoon up North. The bride's going-away gown was of gray cloth, with white Neapolitan hat, trimmed with willow plumes. Upon their return they will reside at 728 Columbia road, where they will hold a reception.

Cards are out for the marriage of Miss Ruby Erskine Scruggs, daughter of William Lindsay Scruggs, of Atlanta, Ga., and Dr. Charles Loftus Grant Anderson, of this city. The wedding will take place Thursday, July 7, at their residence, 46 Peachtree street, Atlanta. At-home cards for after October 1 at 918 Eighteenth street northwest were enclosed.

Mrs. Charles A. Arundel announces the marriage of her daughter, Miss Nettie Virginia, to Leon H. Mangum. The ceremony was performed at Leesville, Va., last Saturday morning. The bride was attended by Mrs. H. L. Bradbury and Dr. L. Terry acted as best man for Mr. Mangum.

Mrs. James F. Mitchell, accompanied by her two sons, will leave here this morning for Atlantic City, to remain two months.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Hoyt have closed their residence on Rhode Island avenue and have gone to Manchester-by-the-Sea, where they will spend the summer months.

Miss Mildred Fearn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Lee Fearn, will leave here Saturday for Green Spring Valley, where she will make a series of visits.

Rear Admiral and Mrs. Casey, accompanied by Miss Casey, will leave here about July 1, and will go to Ocean City, N. J., where they will spend the entire month. From there they will go to Virginia Warm Springs to spend the remainder of the summer.

Mrs. George King entertained a company of young people at a luncheon party last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank B. Noyes, with their family, will leave Washington June 23 for the Adirondacks to spend the summer.

Mrs. Annie E. Murphy, accompanied by her son, Raymond, has gone to the Virginia Military Institute, at Lexington, Va., to attend the graduation exercises of her son, Dr. Edward Murphy.

Miss Elodie Orme will entertain at tea this afternoon at her home in Twenty-eighth street.

Mr. William Gadsby and daughter, Miss Emma Gadsby, have been the bridegroom and bride at the wedding of the church, his "I do" sounding so clearly as to produce a rustle of appreciation among the pews. Few in the audience heard the bride's responses.

The couple knelt and said the "I do's" of white satin surrounded by festoons of bride roses, and with an arch of flowers above. As they passed down the aisle after the ceremony the orchestra played the music of Mendelssohn's setting to "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Among the relatives of the bride and groom who witnessed the marriage were in addition to Mrs. W. Emory Roosevelt, Admiral and Mrs. Cowles, the latter an aunt of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robinson, the latter also an aunt; Mr. and Mrs. W. Emory Roosevelt, the Misses Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore D. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Alexander, Miss Mary Crocker Alexander, Mrs. John J. McCook, Rev. Malt-land, and Mrs. F. W. Mahood and son, of this city, for a time.

After the ceremony the bride and groom were held up for a moment in the rush to shake hands with Col. Roosevelt and to congratulate his son and give good wishes to the new Mrs. Roosevelt. Then Theodore, Jr., and his bride with an escort of police cavalry drove to the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. Charles B. Alexander, at 4 West Fifty-fifth street, where the reception was held.

Almost as large a crowd was gathered about the church filled the little park to the east of the Plaza Hotel and pushed up as close to the entrance of Mr. Alexander's house as the police would allow. All of the lower windows of the Plaza Hotel were occupied and the crowd outside grew while the reception went on. Col. Roosevelt got a cheer when he drove up with his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Longworth, and the younger Roosevelt boys, but he had ceased to be the center of interest. Everybody was waiting to see the bride go away.

Noted Names in List. It was a long wait, but the crowd interested itself in trying to make an off-hand social register of those who went in. Among those who caught the camera's attention were Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, author of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," Mrs. Russell Sage, Senator and Mrs. Depew, and Jacob Rits, who got a long hand grip from Col. Roosevelt. Another whom the former President had a special greeting for was Richard F. Farr, the man who got the evidence in the sugar frauds and has been awarded $100,000 for doing it.

"Fine work, Farr; fine work," said Col. Roosevelt as he shook Farr's hand. Col. Roosevelt had a word or two for the former White House servants, several of whom had come to take care of the reception guests. With them were one or two of the messengers of the White House who were employed during the Roosevelt administration.

The guests who left the reception carried with them little boxes of wedding cake marked with an "R" in gold monogram. The crowd outside waited patiently until 6:30 o'clock, when Kermit raised a cheer by slipping out to tie a white satin slipper to an automobile which drove up to the door.

Then Mrs. Longworth came out, carrying a double handful of rice, and ordered a butler who carried a bowl of the tell-tale grain to scatter it liberally over the machine. Next the bridesmaids, with plenty of rice ammunition, lined up at the door, and the young men of the party scrambled out on the roof of the porch, where they scattered the rice in the air, holding their rice fire in reserve.

In a moment the bride, clinging to the arm of her husband, appeared, running the gambit between the lines of rice-throwing bridesmaids and smiling through the shower. She wore a brown traveling gown and a small toque of the same color. She was in the closed auto almost before the crowd got a look at her, and the chauffeur did not have to wait for orders, but put on speed and whizzed off, escorted by the mounted police, who were not thinking of speed laws just then.

The secret of the honeymoon trip has been carefully guarded, but it is said that Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., will go for a short auto tour before starting for San Francisco, where they will make their home, and where Theodore, Jr., is due on July 1 to begin work as the Pacific coast manager of the sales department of the car factory at Thompsonville, Conn., where he went to work after leaving Harvard.

Many Seek Souvenirs. When the bride and bridegroom drove off the crowd made a rush to pick up the flowers and handfuls of the rice that had been thrown and for a few minutes the police lines were thrown into confusion. The same thing had happened at the church after the ceremony when the people outside stormed the doors in the hope of getting a look at the decorations inside.

Order was restored after a few minutes, but the people outside the house waited to see Col. Roosevelt come out. It was nearly 7 o'clock when he came and after lifting his hat in acknowledgment of the cheering and handclapping got into his automobile and drove to the home of Mrs. James Roosevelt, 47 East Sixty-fifth street, where he remained until it was time to take the train to Oyster Bay.

ROOSEVELT AND TAFT MAY MEET TO-MORROW. Oyster Bay, June 20.—A private car attached to the regular train that arrived here at 9:23 o'clock to-night brought Col. Roosevelt and his family from New York after the wedding. With them were Emory Roosevelt, who chartered the car, and Miss Hagner, Mrs. Roosevelt's social secretary. Kermit, Archie, and Quentin came, too.

The party jumped into three carriages that were waiting at the station and hurried up to Sagamore Hill. Col. Roosevelt did not have anything to say to the several inquirers who met him here. According to his interview on Sunday, he is going to New York on Wednesday to do some work for the Outlook.

ROOSEVELT SEES HIS SON MARRIED

Continued from Page One.

mounted men, had no difficulty in keeping the way clear for the steady stream of automobiles and carriages which drove up to the terraces to the church.

Col. Roosevelt arrived at 3:40 o'clock, the ripple of a cheer and a sound of handclapping up the avenue announced that Col. Roosevelt was coming. He drove up to one of the Fifth avenue entrances in an automobile, accompanied by Mrs. Roosevelt and Archie and Quentin, the two younger Roosevelt boys.

The chauffeur of the automobile overshoot his mark and the crowd applauded and the cameras clicked, while the driver stood at the door of the automobile, who, grinning with delight, acted as look-out and pilot during the backing. Col. Roosevelt raised his hat to the crowd and then turned to greet Inspector O'Brien, who stood at the door of the automobile.

"How are you, Steve?" said the colonel, as he pumped the policeman's hand up and down. "I'm mighty glad to see you, inspector." When he passed the crowd and the crowd settled back to watch for the bride.

While the crowd waited, the Rough Riders came marching up from the Buckingham.

Bride Next Approaches. It was almost exactly 4 o'clock when the mounted policemen galloped up and down to shut off traffic on the avenue and clear the way for Miss Alexander's automobile, which came through East Fifty-fifth street and drew up at the church door at that side. The bride had her face in a great bunch of lilies of the valley when her automobile was blocked by the crowd reaching the church door, and the photographers seized the chance for a picture. Then she lowered the bouquet and smiled out quite frankly at the people.

Inside the church was a garden of flowers. Florists had been at work since the night before. Festoons of roses guarded the columns on either side, and at each window festoons of roses were in ferns. The aisles were walled with roses and lilies of the valley, and each pew was outlined with roses, backed by delicate ferns. The altar was carpeted with roses, and the organ loft was hidden with great branches of the pink rambling rose upon a background of palms, concluding Nathan Frank's Orchestra of fifty pieces.

The ushers were George Emory Robinson, cousin of the bridegroom, John W. Cutler, Elliot Cutler, E. Morgan, Gilbert, Hamilton Fish, Jr., Francis Roche, Fulton Cutting, and Grafton Chapman. While they were seating the guests the orchestra played selections from "Tannhauser," "Lohengrin," "Die Walkure," and numbers by Dvorak, Charpentier, Massenet, Tschalkovsky, and Saint-Saens, Schumann's "Evening Song" was played during the service.

Wedding March Played. As Miss Alexander entered the church, the orchestra, accompanied by the organ, began the "Lohengrin" Wedding March. Miss Alexander walked up the aisle with her mother and was met at the church altar by the bridegroom, accompanied by his brother, Kermit, as best man.

The bride was dressed in white satin, the bodice trimmed with rare Valenciennes lace. The voluminous train was caught to the left with a coronet of orange blossoms. Her bouquet was of white orchids and lilies of the valley.

Miss Alexander wore a pale yellow chiffon gown with a Louis XV train of blue and gold brocade. She wore a large hat trimmed with a single ostrich plume.

The matron of honor, Mrs. Snowden A. Falmeston—she was formerly Miss Elizabeth Berton, and Miss Alexander was her maid of honor at the wedding a few weeks ago—was the bride's attendant. She wore her bridal gown and carried a bouquet of forget-me-nots. The bridesmaids, Miss Ethel Roosevelt, the bridegroom's sister; Misses Harris and Janet Alexander, cousins of the bride; Miss Jean W. Delano and Jessie Millington Drake, of Paris, were in pale rose satin costumes, with tunic of dull blue. They wore larchorn hats, with pink roses, and carried bouquets of roses and forget-me-nots.

Made Man and Wife. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Dr. Henry M. Sanders, great-uncle of the bride, assisted by Rev. Gordon Russell, of Cranford, N. J. The words that made Col. Roosevelt's son and Miss Alexander man and wife were pronounced at 4:10 o'clock. The response of the bridegroom was audible to every end of the church, his "I do" sounding so clearly as to produce a rustle of appreciation among the pews. Few in the audience heard the bride's responses.

The couple knelt and said the "I do's" of white satin surrounded by festoons of bride roses, and with an arch of flowers above. As they passed down the aisle after the ceremony the orchestra played the music of Mendelssohn's setting to "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

Among the relatives of the bride and groom who witnessed the marriage were in addition to Mrs. W. Emory Roosevelt, Admiral and Mrs. Cowles, the latter an aunt of the bridegroom; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Robinson, the latter also an aunt; Mr. and Mrs. W. Emory Roosevelt, the Misses Roosevelt, Mr. and Mrs. Theodore D. Robinson, Mr. and Mrs. Charles D. Alexander, Miss Mary Crocker Alexander, Mrs. John J. McCook, Rev. Maltland, and Mrs. F. W. Mahood and son, of this city, for a time.

After the ceremony the bride and groom were held up for a moment in the rush to shake hands with Col. Roosevelt and to congratulate his son and give good wishes to the new Mrs. Roosevelt. Then Theodore, Jr., and his bride with an escort of police cavalry drove to the home of the bride's uncle, Mr. Charles B. Alexander, at 4 West Fifty-fifth street, where the reception was held.

Almost as large a crowd was gathered about the church filled the little park to the east of the Plaza Hotel and pushed up as close to the entrance of Mr. Alexander's house as the police would allow. All of the lower windows of the Plaza Hotel were occupied and the crowd outside grew while the reception went on. Col. Roosevelt got a cheer when he drove up with his wife, Mr. and Mrs. Longworth, and the younger Roosevelt boys, but he had ceased to be the center of interest. Everybody was waiting to see the bride go away.

Noted Names in List. It was a long wait, but the crowd interested itself in trying to make an off-hand social register of those who went in. Among those who caught the camera's attention were Mrs. Julia Ward Howe, author of "The Battle Hymn of the Republic," Mrs. Russell Sage, Senator and Mrs. Depew, and Jacob Rits, who got a long hand grip from Col. Roosevelt. Another whom the former President had a special greeting for was Richard F. Farr, the man who got the evidence in the sugar frauds and has been awarded $100,000 for doing it.

"Fine work, Farr; fine work," said Col. Roosevelt as he shook Farr's hand. Col. Roosevelt had a word or two for the former White House servants, several of whom had come to take care of the reception guests. With them were one or two of the messengers of the White House who were employed during the Roosevelt administration.

The guests who left the reception carried with them little boxes of wedding cake marked with an "R" in gold monogram. The crowd outside waited patiently until 6:30 o'clock, when Kermit raised a cheer by slipping out to tie a white satin slipper to an automobile which drove up to the door.

Then Mrs. Longworth came out, carrying a double handful of rice, and ordered a butler who carried a bowl of the tell-tale grain to scatter it liberally over the machine. Next the bridesmaids, with plenty of rice ammunition, lined up at the door, and the young men of the party scrambled out on the roof of the porch, where they scattered the rice in the air, holding their rice fire in reserve.

In a moment the bride, clinging to the arm of her husband, appeared, running the gambit between the lines of rice-throwing bridesmaids and smiling through the shower. She wore a brown traveling gown and a small toque of the same color. She was in the closed auto almost before the crowd got a look at her, and the chauffeur did not have to wait for orders, but put on speed and whizzed off, escorted by the mounted police, who were not thinking of speed laws just then.

The secret of the honeymoon trip has been carefully guarded, but it is said that Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., will go for a short auto tour before starting for San Francisco, where they will make their home, and where Theodore, Jr., is due on July 1 to begin work as the Pacific coast manager of the sales department of the car factory at Thompsonville, Conn., where he went to work after leaving Harvard.

Many Seek Souvenirs. When the bride and bridegroom drove off the crowd made a rush to pick up the flowers and handfuls of the rice that had been thrown and for a few minutes the police lines were thrown into confusion. The same thing had happened at the church after the ceremony when the people outside stormed the doors in the hope of getting a look at the decorations inside.

Order was restored after a few minutes, but the people outside the house waited to see Col. Roosevelt come out. It was nearly 7 o'clock when he came and after lifting his hat in acknowledgment of the cheering and handclapping got into his automobile and drove to the home of Mrs. James Roosevelt, 47 East Sixty-fifth street, where he remained until it was time to take the train to Oyster Bay.

ROOSEVELT AND TAFT MAY MEET TO-MORROW. Oyster Bay, June 20.—A private car attached to the regular train that arrived here at 9:23 o'clock to-night brought Col. Roosevelt and his family from New York after the wedding. With them were Emory Roosevelt, who chartered the car, and Miss Hagner, Mrs. Roosevelt's social secretary. Kermit, Archie, and Quentin came, too.

The party jumped into three carriages that were waiting at the station and hurried up to Sagamore Hill. Col. Roosevelt did not have anything to say to the several inquirers who met him here. According to his interview on Sunday, he is going to New York on Wednesday to do some work for the Outlook.

We Know—of no paints, stains, and finishes more satisfactory than "Acme-Quality"—goods. They have our highest recommendation. The kind to use if you want best results at lowest cost. Write for our free literature. W. H. Butler Co., 607-09 C St. N.W. Phone Main 1751.

BAND CONCERT TO-DAY. By U. S. Engineer Band, Julius Kamper, chief musician, at Judiciary Park to-night, beginning 7:30:

1. March, "Old Comrades".....Telle
2. Overture, "Light Cavalry".....Suppe
3. Piccolo solo, "The Skylark".....Ox
By Corporal Egan.
4. "Till Trotter".....Verdi
5. Waltz, "Moonlight on the Hudson".....Hermann
6. Fantasia, "My Old Kentucky Home".....Dalbey
7. Selection, "A Trip to Japan".....Klein
8. Vocal Polka, "The Jolly Blacksmith".....Sackley
"The Star Spangled Banner."

TAFT TO BE AT YALE. President and Wife Will Attend Son's Graduation. The President and Mrs. Taft will close the Presidential commencement season to-morrow at